Children's Art Exhibit On Display At Gallery

An exhibition of children's art from the Buzzard Laboratory School is on display throughout the month of June and the first week of July in the Sargent Gallery.

A variety of media are exploited, including crayon, water color, constructional design, and paints.

Ninety-Five More Grads Placed

Ninety-five persons have been placed in teaching and business positions in the last month, according to James Knott, assistant, teacher education and placement.

Knott reports a total of 171 current graduates have thus far signed contracts for the next school year. Of these placements, 102, or almost two-thirds, majored in the traditional "shortage fields"—English, foreign languages, mathematics, women's physical education, science, speech correction, elementary education, and library science, he said.

Beginning salaries of 1961 graduates currently average $4598, which is $156 above the average for the same time last year.

Accepting positions in business were Richard Armstrong, UARCO, Inc., Springfield; Bill Goodman, State Farm Insurance, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Richard Wynn, YMCA, Peoria.

The following have reported signing teaching contracts:

Marsha K. Baker, Robinson; Larry Barnfield, Flora; Beverly Birch, Clay City; Anna Brandt,

In 1933, he went to the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, where he was professor of plant physiology.

While in California, he worked on hormonal control of plant growth, as well as on root formation and other auxin-affected

275 Band Students Attend EIU Camp

More than 275 members of 87 Illinois high school bands arrived on campus Sunday for the first of two one-week band music camps on campus.

Guest conductor for the camp is H. D. Harmon, band director, Peace Gardens, N. D. Camp director is Leo Dvorak, head of the Eastern music department.

A second band camp will begin Sunday. The present camp will present a public concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the campus tent theatre.

Dr. John Alexander, Charleston physician, and Charleston Community Memorial Hospital were named defendants in a $207,430 personal injury suit filed last Wednesday for a former Eastern football player who underwent the amputation of a leg.

The suit was filed in Circuit Court in behalf of Dorrence Kenneth (Pat) Darling II, who attended Eastern as a freshman last fall. Darling is the nephew of Rex Darling, assistant professor of men's physical education.

According to Circuit Clerk Joseph Snyder, the suit, as far as he could determine, is the largest single personal injury claim ever filed in Coles County.

Darling, a reserve quarterback, suffered a broken leg in a game against Central Michigan University November 5, and was taken to the Charleston hospital for treatment.

The multi-count suit charges the hospital with negligence. Included are allegations that "improper techniques were followed and utilized," and that student nurses and registered nurses were used for post-operative care "who were not skilled."

The suit also alleged that the hospital "refused for a considerable period of time, overriding the request of the patient's parents, to release the patient to go to Barnes Hospital for proper hospital and medical treatment."

"When the patient was finally removed from the defendant's hospital, despite the fact that the patient was then still seriously ill," the suit charged, "it failed or refused to furnish help to move the patient to the ambulance about to transport him to Barnes Hospital, thereby traumatizing his injuries."

Alexander, the suit stated, "set the leg without consent of the patient or his parents, thereby

This tour is offered free of charge. University cars will leave the parking area immediately east of the University Union at 7 a.m. Saturday, and will return about 9 p.m. the same day.

Students interested in this tour should register at the main desk of the University Union.

Other tours scheduled for this summer include three trips to Sullivan, Ill., to see summer stock productions of "Brigadoon," Tuesday, July 18; "Paint Your Wagon," Tuesday, July 25; and "Bloomer Girl," Tuesday, August 1.

A tour of Lincoln Log Cabin State Park and other Lincoln landmarks will be conducted Friday, July 28.

A recreation and nature study trip to McCormick's Creek State Park, Ind., will be conducted by Hiram Thut, head of the botany department, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, July 15.

The annual summer trip to St. Louis, Mo., will be conducted Saturday, August 5. A fee of $5.00 will provide one person with a ticket to an evening performance of "Wish You Were Here," starring Sheree North, Jill Corey, and Tommy Leonetti, as well as transportation to and from St. Louis.

Persons making this trip may also purchase tickets for an afternoon baseball game between the Philadelphia Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals.

All trips and tours are open to students, faculty members, and staff members. Information concerning any of these tours or trips may be secured from Elmore or the University Union desk.

Persons desiring to take any of these trips should register as soon as possible at the University Union desk, Elmore said. He also indicated that insufficient response toward any of the trips would result in cancellation of the trip concerned.

"I would like to thank Dr. Thut for offering his services as guide and resource person for the McCormick's Creek trip," said Elmore.

The director also requested that any faculty person or interested person who would be willing to act as guides and resource persons for either the Springfield or Lincoln Log Cabin trip contact him in his Lantz Gym office.

It is a well-known fact that it is possible to recognize a mid-westerner almost instantly by an expression that they will use invariably, either to start a conversation or to fill in the first gap in social talk-a-thons.

This reference is to always-present remarks about the weather. When all else fails (commonly known as instantaneous intrinsic and extrinsic grand mal failure of the cerebrum), to mention, "Wasn't that a great tornado we had last week?" seems to fit in very nicely.

So, fellow college students, while others unite to barter tractor bodies for warm ones, the same kind of good and ill winds still roar and roar and roar . . .

I have heard considerable comment on and about Eastern's campus concerning the fact that many of our delightful young ladies have adopted the custom of wearing so-called tennis shoes.

From overwhelming curiosity, I undertook a sort of off-the-cuff survey. Just as might be suspected, there's not really that much tennis being played.

Off-heard reasons for tennis clogs: "They're comfortable," "They're cheap," "They're washable," "You can walk down the hall without clacking," and "It's none of your affair."

First of all, to show everyone that I'm not against everything on campus and that it is possible for me to say something nice, may I compliment our athletic director, John Masley, and his staff on the excellent way the annual Coaching Clinic was handled this past week.

We had excellent speakers, the program was arranged with a minimum of confusion, and all in all there was very little room for improvement.

May I again suggest that school be dismissed Monday, July 3 and that we eliminate float hours the week of July 10?

Last week the News ran an exchange editorial which suggested that college athletics were being replaced by professionalism and indeed gave the impression that perhaps they should be.

This bothers me a great deal. I'm not one of those people who believe that if something is not connected with sports, that something is not important. But I do feel that college athletics are an important and necessary part of college life. This, of course, includes not only varsity athletics, but also a school's intramural program.

I certainly do not approve of every phase of the athletic set-up here at Eastern. I do believe, however, that it is based on sound principle. I also believe there is room for improvement, not only in our varsity athletic program, but in all phases of our athletic activities.

We hear a great deal about school spirit. School spirit is a habit, created over a period of time. Many students are criticized for being "suitcasers." This is pointed out as being a chief cause for the low attendance at many of our weekend athletic events.

Athletics should belong not only to a chosen few who are specially gifted, but to the entire student body. However, here at Eastern a student who is not a member of the varsity basketball team is allowed to play only four or five intramural games a year plus one practice session.

If a student wants to exercise and play basketball on weekends when he has nothing to do, where must he go? He has no choice but to go home. Thus going home becomes a habit.

If a student is to feel that he is a part of his university and that his particular school belongs to him, then I feel that it is necessary for the facilities of that university to be opened to that individual. Certainly the gym, the swimming pool, and the library should be available to those students who remain on campus for the weekend.

This spring, on one of those rare occasions when I had studied until 9:30 or so, I journeyed over to the tennis courts to get a little exercise.

That's what I got. Very little!

At 10 p.m. the campus gendarmes arrived and hinted that I should leave. I took the hint after they turned the

Teaching Certificate Meeting June 26

All persons graduating this summer with a B.S. in Education or M.S. in Education degree and who have not made application for a teaching certificate, and who are now in school, are definitely expected to attend an important meeting to be held in the auditorium of the main building on Monday, June 26, at 11:30 a.m. Each student should bring a list of courses in his major, his minors and in the field of education.

This notice applies to students who attended the meeting in the spring because an additional check needs to be made on the materials filled out in April.

Persons not able to attend this meeting for any reason should see Dr. Zeigel in the Placement Office not later than Friday, June 23.

Students not filling out this application blank by Friday, June 30 will have to forego University assistance in obtaining a certificate this summer.

lights out.

I realize that it would cause a little work for those who would supervise such weekend activities, but I believe the results would be worthwhile. I sincerely hope this comes about in the near future. We've made a good start by opening the library on weekends. Let's not stop short.

For those who would abolish college athletics and for those who are so quick to point to the recent gambling scandals that have rocked the nation as being typical of college athletics, I have this to say:

Contrary to the accepted idea, a few bad apples do not necessarily spoil the whole bushel. Even on this campus we may perhaps find those professors who withhold a grade from a student because of personal bias.

Does this mean that we should abandon all forms of academic endeavors? Certainly not! Then would these people have us abandon college athletics because of a few individuals?

Withdrawals

As indicated on pages 60 and 75 of the bulletin, the 10th day and 34th days of the summer quarter are respectively June 16th and July 24th.

All persons interested in participating in intramural athletics are reminded by recreation director Walter Elmore to sign up before 5 p.m. Friday, June 23 on the intramural bulletin board located in the basement of Lantz Gym.

"In cutting the said cast, the defendant negligently cut the patient's leg, thereby further traumatizing it and causing a further spread of infection."

Alexander was also charged with refusing to release the patient during a two week period.

"When finally released from the hospital," the suit continued, "the doctor placed back

The suit contended that Darling is no longer able to pursue a career in physical education, and will therefore suffer a huge loss of earnings.

The suit was filed by two law firms — Meyer and Meyer, Belleville; and Appleman, Zimmerly, and McKnelly, Champaign.
